D.C. JAIL ANNOUNCES INMATE SUICIDE

(Washington, DC) – District of Columbia Department of Corrections officials report today, (November 25) the suicide of an inmate housed at the Central Detention Facility (DC Jail).

At approximately 1:02 p.m., Mr. Josue Pena was found hanging in his cell as a result of an attempted suicide. Resuscitation efforts were performed and Fire/EMS paramedics were called. Pena was transported to the Howard University Hospital where he was later pronounced dead at 1:53 p.m.

Mr. Pena was detained in the Special Management Unit of the DC Jail. This unit houses inmates that require segregation from the general population for security purposes. All high profile inmates are evaluated by mental health professionals through the facility's mental health care provider, Unity Healthcare.

Mr. Pena, 25-year old hispanic male, was being held on second degree murder charges and awaiting trial. He had been in the facility since November 17, 2009.

The investigation into the death is being handled by the District of Columbia Metropolitan Police Department.

The next of kin has been notified.
